POSTOFFICE IS MOVED.

The postoffice force was very busy Saturday night after closing hours in transferring the mail and other belongings from the old stand to the new federal building. Postmaster Astin announced today that he was really not moved yet, as there is considerable work to do, but nevertheless mail is being given out at the new place. It was quite a novelty Sunday morning to the citizens to go to the beautiful new structure and instead of having combinations to work in getting their mail they had to dig down and find their key. There were lots of those who had forgotten to put up the forfeit for their key and some who did not even know the number of their box who had keys. However, the accommodating force which assists Mr. Astin in this institution was very clever and accommodating and helped many of those out who were almost lost in the mammoth structure where Uncle Sam's men are to have their new home. The Eagle expects to give a full description of the structure with the assistance of Mr. Astin just as soon as the moving and arranging is completed.

DOUBLE HONORS FOR

NEWCOMB GRADUATE.
Black Gown and Red Cap for Taking Two Courses.

If Miss Genevieve Lawler insists upon getting all that's coming to her, she will receive two sets of graduation honors from Newcomb College next week. For she is a graduate in two different ways.

When praises and good wishes are sprinkled on the graduating class, Miss Lawler can reach out for two shares of each without feeling greedy about it. She can ask for a double portion of everything other graduates get only one helping of.

And, she has a perfect right to wear two caps and an equal number of gowns, if she can manage it.

She actually will get a diploma in each hand when the time comes. One will certify that she has duly completed everything required to earn a Bachelor's Degree in Education. The other will show that she has finished the Normal Art Course.

Miss Lawler will wear a black gown and a red cap as the only indication that she is entitled to two graduating costumes. All of those other extras due her she cheerfully renounces.

It took Miss Lawler only five years to accomplish what would have required eight years. In 1911 this Orleans girl graduated from the Newcomb High School, and then struck out after two more diplomas—New Orleans Daily States.

Miss Lawler is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Lawler, Sr., of this city and her many friends here are proud of the success she has attained in this great Southern school and extend to her their heartiest congratulations.

One girl doesn't kiss another girl because she likes it; it's merely her method of simplified advertising.

OPERATION WAS NECESSARY.

Mrs. T. N. Herring and little son, Henry Smith, arrived in the city Saturday afternoon from Waxahachie to join Mr. Herring, city editor of The Eagle. When the train arrived the little boy was found to be ill and his condition in a short time became serious. A physician was called and an operation was advised. Mrs. Herring, desiring to submit the case to her family physician, returned to Waxahachie at noon Sunday. The operation was performed this morning and a telegram to Mr. Herring at noon today stated it was entirely successful and the little fellow was resting easy.
